HEAD OF MARKETING · WAYVIA · A WORKING HYPOTHESIS

My first 90 days at Wayvia

Built from my conversations with the Wayvia team. The foundation is strong, with a new brand and a capable young team. The opportunity is for marketing to own a share of pipeline and bring customers into the growth engine, telling one story across marketing, sales and product. A starting plan to pressure-test together.

30 — DAYS 1–30

Listen and align

Learn the business from customers, sellers and the team before changing anything.

- Agree on the pipeline marketing owns with Sales and Finance: definition, monthly target and how it's measured.
- One-on-ones with every team member to understand priorities, strengths and where they need clarity.
- Listen to the market: Gong calls, 10+ customer conversations and win/loss reviews against key competitors.
- Baseline the engine: funnel conversion, attribution and data flow across HubSpot, Salesforce, 6sense and Pendo.
- Lock the Q1 event plan, starting with NRF in January: goals, owners, pre- and post-event follow-up.

BY DAY 30
Agreed pipeline target, marketing baseline and Q1 event plan.

60 — DAYS 31–60

Build and pilot

Put one story and one scorecard in place, and start testing.

- Every team member and agency partner owns a number: north-star goals translated into role-specific KPIs and agency scorecards.
- One message architecture under Connect / Activate / Compete, with buyer-specific stories for brand marketers and ecommerce and channel leaders.
- Enable sales on it, then check adoption in Gong.
- ABM pilot with Sales on a short list of right-to-win accounts.
- Nurture for qualified leads that don't convert yet, and marketing to every contact on open opportunities.
- Customer advocacy pilot: customers as the heroes of their own success stories.

BY DAY 60
KPIs and scorecards in place, messaging live with Sales, ABM pilot running.

90 — DAYS 61–90

Scale and prove

Grow from the customer base and set up 2027.

- Customer lifecycle marketing with Customer Success, segmented by account tenure, size and role.
- Customer advisory board launched with Product, feeding the roadmap and the community.
- AI-native marketing: website built for shoppers and AI agents alike, plus AI workflows for content and lead routing.
- 2027 plan and budget: in-house, agency, contractor and AI mix, backed into revenue targets with Finance.
- Monthly marketing scorecard ready for leadership and the board.

BY DAY 90
2027 plan and budget, lifecycle program live, board-ready reporting.

How we'll know it's working

Pipeline	Efficiency	Events	Customer growth	Adoption
Qualified opportunities and pipeline marketing owns, against the monthly target	Marketing-sourced bookings, CAC and payback	Qualified opportunities per event, with pre- and post-show plans	Expansion pipeline from the existing customer base	First-year utilization and time-to-value

What I'd need

- Anthony: clarity on the 2027 growth targets and the story you most want told in market.
- Sales: a shared pipeline definition, speed-to-lead commitments and access to Gong.
- Finance: visibility into budget, spend and how the board will look at marketing.
- Product: a seat in roadmap planning, and a partner on the advisory board and launches.
- Customer Success: customer introductions and a shared lifecycle calendar.

DONE BEFORE

55–65%	of new ARR marketing-generated, on a lean ~$400K budget at a 5x+ return
+22%	first-year utilization from a 12-month lifecycle program built with Customer Success
85%	of acquired accounts migrated at higher ACV in a post-acquisition rebrand
20%+	of referral traffic from LLMs, up from 2%, after an AI-search content program
